

Runner attempting to steal 2nd base goes into the base standing up just as the throw from the catcher is being caught by the SS who is standing at the base. No contact between the runner and the SS is made.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play.

Runner attempting to steal 2nd base goes into the base standing up and bumps the SS just as the throw from the catcher is reaching the base. The throw goes into centerfield and the runner makes it safely to 3rd base.

- Runner is out for not sliding at second.

Runner attempting to steal 2nd base goes into the base standing up just as the throw from the catcher is reaching the base, the SS is standing behind the base. The thrown ball hits the runner who is standing on the base.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play. He was at the base prior to the ball.

Runner attempting to steal 2nd base slides into the base head first. The catcher never throws the ball.

- Runner is out for sliding head first.

Runner running to 2nd base either on a steal attempt or on a base hit, rounds the base a little wide. The defense throws the ball to second base as the runner dives head first back into 2nd.

- No penalty – runners may go back to a base head first.

Runner is trying to score on a base hit, the throw from the field carries the catcher up the 3rd base line. The runner runs around the catcher, does not touch him, and runs through home base.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play.

Runner is trying to score on a base hit, the catcher is standing in front of the plate waiting on the throw. The runner runs through home base prior to the ball reaching the catcher.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play.

Runner is trying to score on a base hit, the catcher is standing in front of the plate waiting on the throw. The ball is caught by the catcher about the same time the runner runs through home base.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play.

Runner is trying to score on a passed ball, the catcher instead of tossing to the pitcher covering home tries to beat the runner to the plate to tag him. The runner runs through home base prior to being tagged by the catcher.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play.

Runner is trying to score on a passed ball, the catcher instead of tossing to the pitcher covering home tries to beat the runner to the plate to tag him. The pitcher is standing or kneeling in the base line waiting on the throw as the runner slides and is blocked by the pitcher's legs from reaching the plate. The catcher tags the runner prior to the runner touching the plate.

- Obstruction on the pitcher. Runner scores.

Runner is trying to score on a passed ball, the catcher from the backstop tosses the ball to the pitcher covering home, the ball hits the runner as he runs through home base not sliding.

- No Penalty – perfectly legal – runner's not sliding did not affect the play. He was at the base prior to the ball.